Dear Valued Customer,

The recent outbreak of Coronavirus, or COVID-19, in China has created uncertainty surrounding supplies and shipping from the region. We would like to take this opportunity to update you on Hubbell's supply chain and measures we are taking at this time. We continue to closely monitor developments and will further update you as significant changes occur.

Our three plants in China are now open. While we are not at full capacity, we expect to be by the end of March. We are also in close communication with our third-party suppliers there and almost all have restarted production.

In addition, we are monitoring the availability of air freight and container shipments and are working closely with our internal supply chain team to forecast demand for these transportation lines and make the necessary decisions.

Again, we are monitoring the situation daily and will continue to update you as changes dictate.
